

INCITES

— RESEARCH MANAGEMENT SOLUTIONS FOR FUNDERS

Research funding organizations today seek to enable exceptional people to produce exceptional results. With pressure on funding organizations to increase their impact, even while budgets are being reduced, management tools, such as those that facilitate research evaluation, are increasingly important.

Research evaluation tools provide organizations with a way of quantifying results by evaluating their research outputs, their funding policies and schemes, their research grants, the people they support, and specific research disciplines.

WHAT IS INCITES?

InCites™ is the most extensive research intelligence platform on the market that helps you understand your research performance, make informed strategic decisions, and demonstrate the impact of program investments.

With the underlying data from Web of Science™, InCites gives you the confidence to ensure your strategies and decisions are informed by the best insights available, offering a truly unique view of research evaluation. With funding acknowledgments tied to publications, agency directors, program officers, and evaluation officers can build reports to fulfill internal and external reporting requirements. With regular data refreshes, agency analysts can access the information needed to improve decision making and funding allocations across research teams.

Stay current with the global research and innovation landscape, and anticipate tomorrow's challenges to set strategic priorities.

WHY INCITES?

With InCites, you can:

- Evaluate productivity and impact of funding with industry-leading bibliometric research performance indicators
- Identify emerging subject areas, researchers, and experts
- Comprehensively benchmark funding agencies on their research outputs
- Get a bird's-eye view of the funding landscape for strategic planning
- Understand the research landscape by specific fields to minimize duplication of funding programs

With funding acknowledgments by the top 500 funders, you can answer key questions such as:

- How does my research output compare with that of other funders?
- What research areas are other organizations funding?
- Who are the most active funders in my areas of interest?
- Who are the other funders collaborating with/co-funding?
- Who is funding research in journals with high-impact or hot papers?
